

THE DAILY APPEAL.

FRIDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 4, 1857.

COURT OF LAW.—At this Court the cause of Hawes against the Memphis and Ohio Railroad, which commenced at Wadsworth, was still pending last evening.

TRADE.—We are continuing difficulties with the general stores because of the beans from a vault of unshaded blue, and the pleasant wind toys wondrous and bland as the zephyrs of early spring.

PEAS IN PODS.—Friend A. Smith, on Madison street, has just received a fresh supply of the East chewing tobacco, an article universally recommended by those who indulge in the weed. They have also a few cases of fine brand received direct from the importers. Call and see them.

PEACEFUL.—Memphis has for some weeks enjoyed a green calm, nothing having threatened to destroy the quietude and peace except an application to Congress by a friend of ours to open up the Mississippi. We fully expect that will be done, but the opinion that such an instance would be a disastrous luxury.

MEMPHIS TRIAL.—The trial of Bolton will take place at the Court at Covington, Tippecanoe county; the term commences the first Monday in January. Bolton in it is very quiet, giving the public no trouble. He never allows to himself any time in conversation, but becomes very amiable on the subjects of dollar negroes and cutlery.

THE EXCELSIOR TRAGEDY.—This troupe whose musical performances recently excited much attention in this city, will stay on their way up the river and give two concerts. To-night the humorous Barber of Seville will be performed. At the house in certain to be crowded, it will be well to secure seats before the day. The company opens in Nashville on Monday night, it is quite certain they will perform here only on to-night and to-morrow night.

CONCEALED WEAPONS.—A correspondent whom we suspect of being an old boreholder, writes to enquire whether the "little member" which the law deems is "the only thing a woman can defend herself with," included among the "concealed weapons" recently legislated against by the City Council. By bringing a charge of concealed weapons, he has been laid off. Our City Council can soon decide whether a Memphis Magistrate considers a woman's tongue a "deadly weapon" or not.

MARSHALS.—This fair magnate made his first appearance at Astor Theatre last night. Her magic tricks and experiments are truly wonderful, and her entertainment very interesting. Some of her feats are most astonishing and we do not remember to have seen any one better suited in magic skill. To-night she gives another magic show, which will produce some feats never before attempted in this city. She ought to have a large audience.

EDWARD'S BROTHER.—In consequence of the popularity of Macaulay's As You Like It we will unite our forces to present it again to the repeated conferees, Mr. Baynon, at the rooms of the German Dramatic Association, on Shelly street, on Saturday evening. An account of the express of desire to see again the drama of As You Like It, or the Circassian Tragedy, that piece, with other pleasant entertainments, will be performed.

CARLTON COOPER.—At the Criminal Court yesterday, Mr. Carlton was found guilty of having obtained a horse and buggy for Clegg's stable on false pretenses. He was found guilty and sentenced to the penitentiary for four years. Gaskins had been tried on this charge on a former occasion, and was sentenced to three years' imprisonment. His case is an exact imitation of the old saying about "going further and faring worse." However, Wilson, charged with stealing an overcoat, will be brought up for trial this morning.

MISFORTUNES.—A contemporary doubts us having the information published respecting a brick being placed in a fire engine, from an authentic source; we could not have had it from more respectable authority. The same paper represents the paragraph in question as one calculated to reflect discredit on some fire companies, if indeed it is true that the engine companies were the author of the action, as an unknown, mean person; and of the action itself as being contrary to the spirit of the firemen of Memphis." As the editor of the paper containing this charge has been invariably courteous in our personal intercourse with him, we presume the misrepresentation was unintentional.

A FIRE SCENE IN COURT.—In the Criminal Court yesterday, one of the gentlemen of the bar grew much excited while the Attorney General was speaking in reply to him, and forgetting the maxim which says, "Lively, like snakes, bladders, etc., are to be avoided," which he had interrupted his speech. Continuing mighty his interruption, he was desired by Judge McKenna to take his seat. He refused and went on speaking. "I fine you ten dollars," said the Judge. The gentleman, however, continued speaking.

"I fine you another ten dollars," exclaimed the Judge. The twenty was, however, of no more use than the first, as the man, in the words raised thunderously forth, amid the Judge's reiterated, "I fine you another ten dollars." After judging to the amount of about a hundred dollars, the excited gentleman discontinued a speech which, like a love of a honest, was, though short, dear.

THE ECLIPSE.—This elegant boat, which made its first appearance at the landing last evening, has not been to the general's taste. Those who have not been to its unusual deck, will not fail to call and survey her spacious saloon, her commodious platform, spacious saloon, the gorgous carving, splendid furniture, luxuriously tinted woods, ample paneling, the pantry glistening with silver and glass and a thousand other objects which gladden by their beauty and elegance.

JOSEPH ETCHAVANE, HOOT Lizard Brand, PORT PICKERINGS.—This old and experienced Mr. Hoot and Goo, who is now on the fare of the Port Pickering, has been a constant visitor at the Shelby and Rutherford houses with the Shelby and Rutherford families, and is a most popular and welcome guest in every home. Continually enquiring after his interruption, he was desired by Judge McKenna to take his seat. He refused and went on speaking. "I fine you ten dollars," said the Judge. The gentleman, however, continued speaking.

"I fine you another ten dollars," exclaimed the Judge. The twenty was, however, of no more use than the first, as the man, in the words raised thunderously forth, amid the Judge's reiterated, "I fine you another ten dollars."

After judging to the amount of about a hundred dollars, the excited gentleman discontinued a speech which, like a love of a honest, was, though short, dear.

THE TELEGRAPH.—This elegant boat, which made its first appearance at the landing last evening, has not been to the general's taste. Those who have not been to its unusual deck, will not fail to call and survey her spacious saloon, her commodious platform, spacious saloon, the gorgous carving, splendid furniture, luxuriously tinted woods, ample paneling, the pantry glistening with silver and glass and a thousand other objects which gladden by their beauty and elegance.

Continually enquiring after his interruption, he was desired by Judge McKenna to take his seat. He refused and went on speaking. "I fine you ten dollars," said the Judge. After judging to the amount of about a hundred dollars, the excited gentleman discontinued a speech which, like a love of a honest, was, though short, dear.

RIVER MATTERS.—The river yesterday was falling slowly. There was but little animation on the levee. Arrived since last evening, the steamer Orpheus from St. Louis, the Martha Greenwood for New Orleans from Alton, the J. D. Eddy for New Orleans from New Orleans, the Twelfth for Cairo, the Pete Tidwell for the Ohio river and the Tennessee for Cincinnati.

The telegraphic advices state that the Mississippi is open to Keokuk.

The Belfast leaves for New Orleans this morning after the arrival of the cars.

The Oregon left for St. Louis yesterday.

The Kris Fritze leaves this afternoon at 1 o'clock for Napoleon, connecting with the White river boats. That the boat is commodious, and that Captain Hicks, and Folger, the clerk, are officers who pay every attention to their passengers, is only to say once what has been truly said of them.
